

Donald Bently donates land for new campus

For many years, Bently Nevada has had a partnership with the University of California, Chico, the University of Nevada, Reno and Western Nevada Community College in Carson City, Nevada.

Many Bently Nevada employees have obtained degrees at these institutions, either by attending classes on campus or through courses sent via satellite from Chico and Reno.

As part of his continuing commitment to education, particularly in technical fields, Mr. Bently recently donated ten acres of land to Western Nevada Community College. This donation will enable the community college to build a satellite campus in Douglas County, which will be called Western Nevada Community College - Bently Center. Classes in Electronics and other fields will be offered, leading to a complete General Studies offering.

Local students will be able to take classes closer to their homes, eliminating a fifteen mile drive to Carson City. ■